Berlin Blockade Battle Under Way In United Nations

Soviet Delegate Gives Crowd Laugh When He Denies Capital Sealed Off; Allies Consider Revival of Talks

PARIS, Oct. 4.—(P)—Russia told the United Nations security council today it has no right to consider western charges the Soviet blockade of Berlin is a menace to world peace.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky led off his fight to keep the Berlin issue out of the council's hands. He declared the western demand for UN consideration of the dispute was "devoid of any ground, as it does not fall within the scope of the security council."

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

During this fall the mysterious and beautiful "northern lights," or aurora borealis, should be displayed more than usual because the sun has just passed the peak of a sunspot cycle, is the prediction of Science Illustrated magazine.

I have always been fascinated by the "northern lights," and have viewed them from many places, but the most vivid display I have ever beheld was on a boat on the St. Lawrence River, one night a number of years ago. At that time nearly all colors of the rainbow were incorporated in the gigantic "fireworks."

About a year ago I saw one of the huge spots on the sun, without the aid of glasses, which is extraordinary. I was on a hill up in Ross County, and the huge, red ball was just ready to sink over the horizon. The sunspot was very distinct to the naked eye.

The sunspots indicate gigantic storms on the sun. The belief that these storms blow great winds of hydrogen into the earth's atmosphere was advanced by Dr. Carl W. Gertlein doing research under the joint auspices of Cornell and the National Geographic Society. The nation's top authority on the aurora borealis, Dr. Gertlein discovered evidence of a tremendous amount of hydrogen on his spectroscopic just before a sudden bright outburst of auroral light.

In recent years it was learned that the northern lights are produced by gases of the upper atmosphere glowing under the bombardment of electrified particles from the sun. Until now it was believed that the particles were electrons. Dr. Gertlein's announcement that they might be atoms of hydrogen is one of the noteworthy discoveries of 1948, according to the article.

Other data about the northern lights compiled by Dr. Gertlein during 10 years of observations on an Ithaca, N. Y., farm are: they have been as low as 35 miles and as high as 600 miles; they are strongest during the months of September and March when sunspot activity facing the earth is greatest. He has yet to hear sky sounds some claim they have heard during such displays.

Baby Son is Born To Polio Victim

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 4.—(P)—A 29-year-old infantile paralysis patient at Lancaster General Hospital today gave birth to a five-and-a-half pound son.

Mrs. Mabel Gockley, of nearby Lititz, has been a patient at the hospital since Thursday when her illness was diagnosed as a "moderate" case of polio.

Hospital authorities said both mother and child are doing fine. The birth was about a month premature.

Two Brothers Die Of Same Disease

DES MOINES, Oct. 4.—(P)—Bulbar polio, which claimed the lives of two boys of the Ray B. Brandhorst family, Manning, Ia., since Thursday, has stricken the family's last surviving son.

He is Dennis Brandhorst, 9, who was admitted to a hospital yesterday. Hospital authorities said he is suffering from the same type of disease that resulted in the death of his two brothers.

The older brother, Ronald, 14, died Thursday, just five hours before the second brother, Dale, was admitted to the hospital. Dale died Saturday.

VISCOUNT Duncannon and his bride, the former Mary Munn, New York and Philadelphia socialite, leave the American cathedral in Paris following their wedding ceremony. The groom is private secretary to Britain's Ambassador to France. The couple will honeymoon in Venice, Italy. (International)

Bloody Revolt In Peru Ended

Short Battle Rages In Port of Callao

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 4.—(P)—Government troops held full control over the port of Callao today after smashing a bloody revolt by sailors and civilians.

The insurgents, who seized and used the full firepower of warships and heavily armed naval installations at Callao, Lima's port, launched the revolt early yesterday.

By late last night, government infantrymen, supported by tanks and fighter planes, had rooted the rebels out of their fortified strongholds and apparently had them all.

There was no official indication of the number of casualties or of how many persons took part in the revolt. All accounts indicated, however, that the number of dead and wounded was large. An army authority said there were so many casualties that trucks probably would be used to augment ambulances in carrying them away.

The government of President Jose Luis Bustamante Rivero said in a communique it had confirmed that the opposition Aprista party had "inspired and directed" the revolt. The communique said many armed civilians affiliated with Aprista were arrested.

"Comdr. Enrique Aguila Pardo, who is well known because of his Aprista leanings, headed the rebellion aboard some warships," the communique said.

Air Raid Shelters To Stay in Britain

LONDON, Oct. 4.—(P)—Preparedness-minded Britain has stopped general demolition of its wartime air raid shelters.

A home office spokesman said today that except for shelters which had been condemned as dangerous, all of these refuges from air attack will be left standing for the time being.

What Are You Ashamed Of, Governor

Camera Equipment Is Smashed By Gov. Folsom's Bodyguard

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 4.—(P)—A photographer for the Columbus Ledger-Enquirer reported yesterday that companions of Alabama's Gov. James E. Folsom destroyed about $50 worth of camera equipment on the chief executive's order at a weekend football game.

News cameraman Brady Bynum said the incident occurred Saturday at the Auburn-Louisiana Tech game when he photographed the governor with a paper cup in his hand.

Bynum related the governor asked him to destroy the negative and when he refused Folsom turned to a man later identified as Nick Littlefield, one of his special investigators, and said:

"Nick, if you had been on the ball he wouldn't have got that. I don't want that picture to go out of here."

Then, Bynum added, Littlefield and two or three other men shoved him against a motor car, seized his equipment bag, and destroyed nine film holders valued at $5.25 each. Folsom and Littlefield declined comment, but Police Chief C. B. Ellis of Auburn, where the game was played, said he was checking up on the affair.

Fred Allen Declares War on Radio Give-Aways

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(P)—Fred Allen has started a one-man radio campaign against the "give-away" programs that won millions of listeners.

The dour radio comedian has agreed "in self defense" to bond his listeners up to $5,000 against the loss of any prize they might win by listening to some other program.

Allen says "give-away" programs "are ruining incentive for individual talent in radio."

Almost at the same time Allen was starting his campaign last night, Kenneth Crosbie, a Bluff-

Homecoming Football Game Friday To Bring Former Lions Together

Plans for making next Friday night's annual homecoming football game at Gardner Park just that in fact as well as in name and ceremony today were taking form both in and out of the Washington C. H. High School's administrative offices.

There will be, of course, the traditional crowning of the queen with appropriate ceremonies. She is to be chosen early this week by popular vote by the WHS students, just as in previous years.

But, in addition, the former WHS Lions are to gather in the Field House just before the game. There they are to register and then file out to the playing field.

At the players' gate at the east end, according to plans now taking form they are to form a double line extending out to the field.

Their names probably will be read over the loud speaker system, but the present impression is that it would be impractical to try to introduce them as they entered the gate or took their places in the line.

When the Lion squad comes into the field for the game, the players will dash down between the lines of old grads to their places on the bench. As they go by, they probably will get more than one encouraging slap on their east sides from their stauncher supporters, the men who have worn the blue and white in WHS gridiron wars of yesteryear.

Places for the former Lions are to be arranged whether on the bottom rows of the bleachers on the south side of the field or in chairs arranged back of the players' bench.

Murdered Girl's Body Found in School Yard

Apparent Victim of Rapist Shot Twice In Car and Pushed Out, Police Theorized

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 4.—(P)—The body of an unidentified girl, between 18 and 20 years of age, shot through the back and abdomen, was found this morning at Boone Station School, two miles west of here.

Coroner Austin Richards said the pretty, brown-haired girl had been dead 10 to 12 hours when the body was discovered at 8 A. M. by Arthur Detweiler, school principal.

The coroner said the body "showed evidence of apparent rape," and death was due to a hemorrhage of the lungs resulting from the two bullet wounds.

The coroner, who was investigating the slaying along with Sheriff J. Arthur Schuman, theorized the victim had been shot in a parked automobile and pushed out of the car beside the school ground.

The body was lying partly sprawled in a bush on the school ground. The coroner based his theory on the fact that the girl's left hand clutched a handful of grass, grasped, he said, in an apparent death spasm. The amount of blood at the scene, he said, indicated she had died some time after being pushed from a car.

Near the body was found a pair of red pumps, several beer bottles and one ejected .22 caliber bullet shell.

The girl was fully clothed when found. She was wearing a light print dress, slip and undergarments.

One of the bullets entered the girl's back below the right shoulderblade, the other in the upper abdomen, the coroner said.

Other than the clothing, there were no other clues at the scene which could help authorities in identification of the body.

Wife Being Held For Shooting Mate

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—(P)—The owner of a large wholesale furniture firm was shot and seriously wounded in a northside hotel last night, and police arrested his wife on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

The victim is Walter E. Clissold, 60, head of the firm of the same name. He was placed in an oxygen tent to await surgery for the removal of a bullet in his back. His wife, Gladys, 52, was arrested in the room in the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Police Capt. John Warren quoted Mrs. Clissold as saying she shot her husband because "our whole last year has been a mess."

Fugitives Caught Soon after Escape

COLUMBUS, Oct. 4.—(P)—Harold Haney, 21, of New Cumberland, and William J. Bowers, 25, of Menominee Falls, Wis., were captured yesterday at Mineral City in Tuscarawas County 16 hours after they escaped the Columbus workhouse.

Haney was serving an eight-month term for contributing to the delinquency of a minor; Bowers a one-year sentence on a non-support charge.

Police said both trustees escaped late Saturday and stole a city of Columbus truck used on the workhouse farm.

Peace Campaign By Methodists

Grace Church Pastor Attends Meeting

Rev. A. W. Caley, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, was among Methodist ministers from this area who attended a statewide meeting Monday in Columbus where Methodists were urged to mobilize their resources, personal and material, to help save the world from destruction.

Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas, Texas, issued the call for the denominational crusade at a meeting of 571 district church superintendents and ministers.

The meeting is being held to orient the superintendents on the church's new quadrennial program, also called "The Advance for Christ in His Church." It has two aims, a world-wide teaching mission and an increase in donations for missionary organizations.

Bishop Martin said a minimum of $50,000,000 is the goal of the program. This work, he added, is intended to combat "reaction, disillusionment and despair which are in possession of a large quarter of world. Suspicion and strife

First Frosts Are Reported

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—(P)—Frost bit at a large share of the nation today.

Cadillac, Mich., reported 25, the lowest early morning temperature. It was 27 at Land O'Lakes, Wis., 28 at Albany, N. Y., 29 at Brookville, Pa., and 30 at Erie. The cool air extended up through the New England states also.

By contrast, Miami reported 78 and New Orleans 67. It was warming over the great plains, and rain fell along the Pacific coast from San Francisco Bay north, and in eastern Georgia and the Carolinas.

U. S. forecasters said they couldn't see much to change the situation within the next two days.

Victim of Traffic

PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 4.—(P)—Mrs. Ade Parker, 65, died this morning of a skull fracture suffered when hit by a truck on a highway while en route to church Sunday.

TWO WIVES at the same time and both present tend to give Raymond Lund a harassed look as he faces bigamy investigation at Los Angeles. ## Supreme Court Faces Big Task

Historic Decisions Are To Be Made

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(P)—The Supreme Court today opens a new term expected to produce historic decisions on powers of the House un-American activities committee and on important labor law issues.

A full-blown test case of the committee's authority to compel witnesses to testify as to possible Communist affiliations is expected to reach the nine justices during the nine-month term.

Various witnesses called before the House group have refused to answer the question, "are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist party?"

In the labor law field, the court has agreed to rule on the validity of state bans on closed shops—those that permit the hiring of union members only.

An unusually large stack of petitions ask review of other labor cases. These include the validity of a permanent injunction issued here to stop the threatened nationwide railroad strike, and the right of employers to boost pay without consulting unions.

Today's session was scheduled to be devoted chiefly to opening formalities.

House in Cincinnati Looted by Burglars

CINCINNATI, Oct. 4.—(P)—Thieves obtained $3,255 in cash, jewelry and furs at the home of Harold Benjamin sometime during the weekend, police reported today. Glass in a rear door of the home was broken to gain entrance while the family was out.

Six-Year-Old Boy Kills Brother in Comic Book Fuss

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Oct. 4.—(P)—A six-year-old boy fatally wounded his 10-year-old brother in an argument over a comic book, Lawrence County Coroner Charles Allen reported.

Allen said the older boy, George Lee Nail, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nail of suburban Clifton Flats, died in New Castle Hospital yesterday, a few hours after he was shot in the head with a 12-gauge shotgun.

The coroner said the shotgun was fired by the victim's younger brother, Samuel Thomas Nail. Allen said the argument arose from George's wish to trade a comic book with a neighbor boy and Samuel's protest that he had not yet seen the book.

Verbal Clash Spices Trial

COLUMBUS, Oct. 4.—(P)—Lieut. Gov. Paul M. Herbert and County Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett slashed verbally at each other today as four men went on trial in a $40,000 holdup of the Ritz Club.

Herbert, attorney for one of the defendants, had asked Sheriff Ralph J. Paul to find for him a certain law in the 1940 general code.

Prosecutor Bartlett remarked: "You wouldn't expect the presiding officer of the Senate (Herbert's job) to know about changes about this law in 1946."

Herbert leaped to his feet and replied: "No more than you would expect the county prosecutor to know there is wide-open gambling in this county."

The lieutenant governor remarked further that no gamblers had been brought to trial, and the prosecutor retorted, "if they were, you would defend them."

Gambling allegedly was in progress at the Ritz Club when it was robbed last Jan. 23.

Marshall Plan Appreciation By Beneficiaries Big Question

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(P)—Getting the point of the Marshall Plan over to people in the countries being helped was among the early problems of the European recovery program.

The Economic Cooperation Administration reported this today in telling Congress of its activities for the period April 3 to June 30.

The foreign aid agency noted the "violently hostile" Communist attitude and said that in many of the participating countries important newspapers are allied with the Communist party.

"It will require months of painstaking effort to develop a real understanding of the operations and purposes of the program in the minds of the masses of the people in the participating nations," the report said.

"Despite these handicaps, ECA information officers attached to the country missions and in Paris are making continuous and increasingly effective efforts to serve the European radio networks, newspapers and magazines."

Tropical Storm Developing over Disaster Area

Distress Calls End After Radio Key on Plane Is Locked

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 4.—(P)—Twin-engine charter airliner with 21 persons aboard was "presumed down at sea" today after it sounded distress calls somewhere between Charleston, S. C., and Nassau Bahamas.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration official listed the plane as owned by the New England Air Express Company of Teterboro, N. J., and said "an accident is presumed to have occurred."

STORM BREWING

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 4.—(P)—Southeast storm warnings were hoisted today from Miami southward over the Florida Keys and to Fort Myers, Fla., as a tropical storm developed in the Caribbean Sea.

The plane's gasoline supply was exhausted at 4:45 A. M. (EST). It was last heard from, calling the international distress signal "Mayday" at 1:44 A. M.

"We can only presume the plane is down somewhere between Charleston and the Bahamas," the CAA said. "Its gasoline is gone and we haven't heard from it for several hours."

The charter airliner, a DC-3, was en route from Teterboro to San Juan, Puerto Rico. It departed Teterboro at 7:30 P. M. yesterday.

The first distress signal was picked up by the CAA's listening post in the Everglades at 12:21 A. M. It was heard on a regular communications frequency. The coast guard, other CAA stations and Federal Communications (Please turn to Page Two)

Convicted Murderer Is Denied New Trial

MANSFIELD, Oct. 4.—(P)—Robert Muri Daniels, 24, today was denied a new trial by a three-judge court which on Sept. 17 sentenced him to die in the electric chair for killing a family of three.

Daniels now is in Ohio Penitentiary, awaiting death Jan. 3. The motion for a new trial was made by Attorney Lydon H. Beam, who was appointed by the court to defend Daniels. After the motion was denied he announced that his duties as counsel for Daniels had terminated, but he had advised him of his right to appeal to a higher court.

Daniels, a former inmate of the Mansfield Reformatory, was convicted of slaying John E. Niebel, 50, superintendent of the reformatory farm; his wife Nolana, 52, and their daughter Phyllis, 21.

Strike Leaders Ousted by Union

MILWAUKEE Wis., Oct. 4.—(P)—Harold Christoffel was stripped last night of membership in Local 248 UAW-CIO.

The local membership voted to expel Christoffel and eight other former officers who led it through an unsuccessful strike against the Allis Chalmers Mfg. Co., two years ago.

The nine were among 13 former officers of the local who were charged with mishandling union funds. The local's trial committee recommended dismissal and the membership concurred at last night's meeting.

'No' Is the Reply To Strikers Offer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—(P)—Three of six struck California oil companies gave a firm "no" last night to a peace bid by striking CIO oil workers. The other three firms are expected to announce their replies shortly.

To the union's proposal to return to work at a company-offered 12½ cent wage increase and submit to arbitration its demand for another 8½ cents, Standard of California, Shell and the Union Oil Company said:

1. No increase beyond 12½ cents, and no arbitration.

2. Not all strikers will be rehired, in any event, since some "have committed acts of violence."

Call Historical Society Meet For October 11

State Organization Director Will Be Guest Speaker

Monday night, October 11, has been selected as the date for the formal organization of the Fayette County Historical Society, and the meeting will be held at Memorial Hall at 8 P. M. on that night, the committee in charge of arrangements stated Monday.

It was also announced by the committee that Erwin C. Zepp, director of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society, has accepted an invitation to speak at the organization meeting, and to give any information desired in connection with organizing such a society, and planning for the future.

Director Zepp has been prominently affiliated with the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society for many years, and last year was named director, succeeding H. C. Shetrone, who resigned after having held the important post for many years.

At the organization meeting, officers will be elected and plans for the future will be discussed. All interested citizens are invited to attend.

Following the organization, the enrollment of charter members will be started, and plans will be made to enroll charter members the remainder of this year.

If possible a prospective constitution and by-laws will be presented for consideration at the organization meeting, and plans made for incorporating the society as a non-profit organization.

This step is necessary so that the society will be eligible to obtain up to $2,000 yearly from the county commissioners for support of the society.

Airliner Feared Lost

Commission were alerted, in an effort to get a "fix" on the distressed aircraft.

The pilot was instructed to lock his sending key to cause a continuous signal in hope of making a "fix." The signal was heard in Puerto Rico, Jamaica and Miami but died before a cross-bearing could be obtained.

The last signal was heard at 1:44 A. M.

The CAA said the plane carried 17 passengers and four crewmen. Only person identified was the pilot, Richard Roy Oliveira, of Port Chester, N. Y., president and general manager of the airline, others aboard are a pilot, co-pilot, stewardess, extra pilot and 17 passengers.

More than a dozen aircraft were already on the search. Five navy PB-1's from Jacksonville, two air force B-17's from MacDill field (Tampa) and five coast guard PBM's from St. Petersburg were aloft and combing the area extending from the lower Bahamas north to the Florida coastline.

A squadron of navy planes from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba and another from Puerto Rico were to join immediately.

The coast guard said the area to be searched is dotted with squall and shower areas but visibility is "pretty fair." The ceiling was estimated at about 2,500 feet.

Killed by Train

PORT CLINTON, Oct. 4—(AP)—Deoro Landez, 50, a Mexican field worker, was struck and killed yesterday by a train near Curtice. His body was found along the Wheeling & Lake Erie right of way.

Pain due to a diseased heart may be felt in parts of the body remote from the heart.

Dog Spills Gravel Load

A black cat may have crossed Maynard Dowler's path as he was driving a load of gravel to Kinderhook, a community near Circleville, Saturday noon.

But it was a dog that brought him his bad luck.

He was driving east on Washington Ave. and some dogs were playing near the intersection of Hopkins Street. As he swerved to miss the dogs, his truck overturned spilling the gravel and injuring one of the dogs.

Dowler's leg was slightly injured but he was back at work at the Fayette Limestone Co. Monday.

The dog, belonging to Tom Christopher, was caught in the gravel as it spilled and its leg and back were fractured.

Troop 170 Will Meet Tuesday

Helped With Fire Prevention Saturday

Boy Scout, of Troop 170 helped post Five Prevention Week signs in the business area Saturday.

These posters were distributed to city fire departments by the Ohio Fire Protection Association and obtained by the scouts from the department here.

Fire Chief George Hall said the posters would be distributed to city and county schools as well.

Troop 170 will meet at 6 P. M. Tuesday at the home of the scoutmaster, Willard Holdren on 216 W. Temple Street.

From there they will go to the Ernest Binegar farm on the Leesburg Pike where a wiener roast will be held.

Fun and games are scheduled for the evening and the scouts themselves will help determine the troop program for October and November.

October is trail skills month for scouts and November is exploration month and programs in line with these two fields will be determined by the scouts and their officials at the meeting.

Parents of the scouts are invited to attend the meeting.

Vishinsky denied there was a Soviet blockade of Berlin. A number of the delegates smiled.

The Russian said western charges against Soviet military authorities in Berlin were of "a ludicrous character."

The council finally got to the question of whether to put the western charges on the agenda after an hour of wrangling over whether to have simultaneous or consecutive translation. To the amusement of the crowded public gallery, the delegates finally decided to have both.

U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin stepped down from the council presidency immediately after opening the session in favor of Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Atilio Bramuglia.

Austin said the United States, as a party to the Berlin dispute, should not preside over the Berlin debates.

Vishinsky said the four power foreign ministers council had been specifically formed to deal with German problems.

Russian Argument
"The whole question of Germany, including the Berlin question," he said, is subject to decision of the great powers in direct negotiations.

Speaking in a more restrained manner than normally and with few of his usual gestures, the Soviet delegate said his government did not consider it "legal or acceptable" to transfer the German dispute to the security council.

"The governments of the United States of America, the United Kingdom and France ought to take the legal way x x x charges by international agreements signed by these powers," he declared.

Vishinsky referred to the latest

Orchestra Leader Dies Unexpectedly

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 4—(AP)—Jan Savitt, 39-year-old orchestra leader, died in Sacramento County Hospital early today of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Savitt was stricken while enroute here Saturday for an engagement at Memorial Auditorium. His orchestra fulfilled its engagement Saturday night without the leader.

Mrs. Savitt flew to Sacramento Sunday from Los Angeles and was at her husband's bedside when death occurred.

Soviet note and asked: "Isn't it strange x x x that this organ (the council of foreign ministers) has been frozen out? This organ that was set up to deal with questions relating to German x x x?"

Vishinsky said article 107 of the U. N. charter forbade the security council to discuss the German question.

A-bomb Control

Austin challenged Russia to say if she is ready to agree to effective international control of atomic energy.

He opened, in the political committee of the United Nations assembly, the western powers' drive to answer Russia's latest switch in tactics in the atomic energy debate.

Austin said he hoped the time for throwing "old tomato cans and dead cats" is over. He added he hoped the delegates could get down to real work.

His answer to violent attacks by Russia's Vishinsky and Manuilsky of the Soviet Ukraine was that he would try to do nothing to make the committee's job harder.

Vishinsky, Russia's deputy foreign minister, started the committee Saturday with a resolution calling for the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission to continue work.

He proposed the assembly call for a treaty banning atomic weapons and a second treaty establishing effective controls, both to take effect at the same time. He hinted Russia might have the atomic bomb.

Big Four Talks

Meanwhile, United States, British and French foreign ministers met today to discuss Russia's call for resumption of big four talks on Berlin and Germany.

U. S. Secretary of State Marshall, Britain's Ernest Bevin and their top advisors on German affairs met with French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman in Schuman's office, a French spokesman reported.

They had before them fully translated texts of a Russian note, received in the early hours of this morning, which replied to their notice to the Kremlin last week that they considered direct east-west negotiations for a Berlin settlement a failure.

Bishop Martin, who is chairman of the committee on "The Advance for Christ and His Church," said:

"The Christian Church has always been the bulwark of human liberties, the refuge for the oppressed, the guarantee of justice." "In a day when blind forces are pushing civilization to the brink of destruction, the church is the only agency which transcends racial, national and class barriers and can provide bonds that are strong enough to hold the world together."

Bishop Martin added this was being done "not as a means of contributing to denominational pride but in order that we may release upon the needs of the world the resources, personal and material, which are in the keeping of eight and a half million Christians."

Grain Markets

CHICAGO, Oct. 4—(AP)—Buying of corn by cash houses gave the yellow grain a lift on the Board of Trade today. Prices were up more than two cents at one time. The rest of the grain market scored smaller advances in sympathy with the corn upturn.

Offerings of cash corn on a to-arrive basis totaled only 14,000 bushels, of which 11,000 was new crop grain. This was a very small business for Monday at this time of year. Visible supply of corn showed a slight increase this week, gaining 431,000 bushels.

Interest in wheat and oats was small. Mills bought a little wheat against sales of flour to the Netherlands East Indies. Soybeans held steady, helped by the advance in corn. Lard was a little lower most of the day as a result of another break in live hog prices.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—(AP)—Berlin means to Germans what New York and Washington, if rolled into one, would mean to Americans. It's Germany's biggest city and its old capital.

So it's a prize in the naked struggle over Germany between Russia on one side and, on the other, the United States, Britain and France.

As part of that struggle the Russians now are doing all they can, short of war, to grab Berlin all for themselves.

They don't have it to themselves now. That's because of a deal made in 1945 when Germany fell and Russia and the three western democracies were still friendly wartime allies.

They then agreed: To split the Germans into four zones. Each ally would occupy one zone and run it. And—Berlin would be split into four sectors, with each ally occupying one and running it.

(The four military commanders in the four zones and the four sectors were supposed to work together in planning for Germany and Berlin as a whole. As time went on, this broke down.)

The four-power control of the old German capital was to be a symbol of the four-power control of all Germany. But—

Berlin is deep in the Russian zone. By being in Berlin, the Western Powers have a foothold deep in the heart of the Russian-controlled part of Germany.

Further, of the 3,500,000 or so Germans in Berlin, about 2,500,000 live in the sectors of the Western Powers.

From what follows you can see what a big stumbling block that is to Russia's desires for complete control of her zone:

In 1946 the four powers let the Berliners in all four sectors elect their own city council so they could have some self-government.

The Socialist unity party, controlled by the German Communists and pampered by the Russians, got only about 20 percent of the vote.

So the pumber of Communists and Communist - sympathizers elected to the council were far outnumbered by the non-Communists.

This showed that there in Berlin—deep in the Russian zone—was a huge pool of Germans not following the Russian line.

It's not surprising then that this summer Russian military authorities "encouraged"—that's the American state department word for it—a Communist-led German mob to try to destroy the council.

The council was meeting in the Berlin city hall in the Russian sector of the city when the mob burst in. All the council members, except the Communists and their sympathizers, fled to the western sectors.

The council is trying to do business there now, but it's a cripple.

Stalin on August 2 frankly said the Western Powers no longer

Gleeful Ohioans Are Stocking Up At Liquor Sale

Many 'Name' Brands Are Included in Bargain Offers

By JAMES E. WALTERS

COLUMBUS — (AP) — More Ohioans than ever stagger home these days under a load of liquor.

It's not that folks are drinking more. Just that until Oct. 9 they can get potables for less than the wholesale price by buying in three-bottle, or more, lots.

The net result is that many Ohio tipplers have two, three or even more cases of liquor stored in the cellar. Many are cutting corners on the budget to stock up.

Last February the state liquor department, which has an exclusive Ohio franchise for all intoxicating beverages except beer and wine, found itself overstocked with rum, gin, brandy, cordials, liquors and some brands of whisky.

Most of it was "name" brands but it wasn't selling fast enough and thus weakening the department's financial condition.

So the new liquor director, mild-mannered Dale Dunifon, figuratively blew the dust off 2,529,660 bottles (mostly fifth) and offered them at cut prices.

Ohio imbibers, who for years have enjoyed cheap liquor prices under the monopoly system (only in West Virginia can liquor be bought for less) rubbed their eyes.

The liquor put one sale cost the state $6,025,753 and at original prices in the state's 219 stores and 34 agencies would have sold for $7,779,145. Dunifon put it on the block for $4,577,316.

The state unloaded 67,000 cases in three special two-week sales before April 24. The rest was supposed to go to bulk bidders. But the state could sell only 35,000 have any right in Berlin, although he said the Russians are not trying to force them out.

The three Western Powers, through their ambassadors, told him Russia is trying to force them out but they will not leave.

For months now the Russians have refused to let the Western Powers send any supplies—by boat, train or truck—from their zones of Germany into their sectors of Berlin.

(They can do that because any supplies from the western zones to the western sectors of Berlin have to move through the Russian zone.)

So for months the Western Powers have been sending supplies by plane into their sectors of Berlin for their troops and the Germans living there.

They may not be able to send in enough supplies by plane when the bad winter months set in.

If they quit Berlin, leaving 2,500,000 Germans to the Russians, it doesn't mean they'll have to quit all Germany. They can stay in their own zones of Germany, outside the Russian zone, where the Russians cannot blockade them.

cases in bulk lots at what it considered a reasonable return.

Then, Dunifon offered the remaining 53,000 cases to the public for—get this—$130,000 less than the tax alone. The sale price is—950,000 compared to the tax of $1,080,000. The original cost of $1,080,000, the original cost of $1,800,000 and the regular retail price of $2,325,000.

This sale started Sept. 10.

You can buy a fifth of excellent imported brandy (Jules Bouchard Three Star) for $1.98. The state sold this brandy originally for $5.24 and will sell it for $5.24 again after disposing of the surplus stock.

But right now, the brandy is available for 32 cents less than the federal tax of $2.30. It cost the state $3.20 a bottle.

A fine Bacardi rum (Aneja) is going for $2.20 a fifth. This represents the tax alone. The rum cost the state $4.54 and sold for years at $6.12.

Hiram Walker martinis sell for $1.19 a fifth, exactly half the regular price. The tax is $1.18.

However, the best buys are in liquors and cordials—if you like after dinner drinks. Dekuyper Delecta (cost $2.83, regular price $3.73, tax $1.55) sells for $1.55 a fifth. Hiram Walker Creme De Cacao (regular price $2.59) is $1.08 Mohawk Rock and Rye (regular price $3.35) goes for $1.56.

As one gleeful buyer said: "Why, you can't even buy rubbing alcohol that cheap."

Planes To Be Used In Television, Tip

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4—(AP)—Coast-to-coast television? Do it with airplanes, says Engineer C. E. Nobles.

He told the institute of radio engineers here yesterday that eight planes flying 400 miles apart at 25,000 feet would bring television programs to 78 percent of the nation.

His proposed network would have planes flying over Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Leadville, Colo., in western Nebraska, Kansas City, Chicago, Pittsburgh and New York. Each plane, he said, could do the work of 35 ground television stations.

Nobles calls his system "stratovision." In recent tests, he said, 270 cities in 10 states reported receiving telecasts from a plane flying over Pittsburgh. A plane over Zanesville, O., picked up a political telecast from Baltimore, 200 miles away, and re-cast it 100 miles farther west.

Like to drive an Alfa-Romeo?

It might cost you 72¢ a gallon for the gasoline . . .

The Alfa-Romeo, as you can see here, is a beautiful Italian automobile—a fine example of the best in the low-slung, racy continental school of car design.

If you drove it into an Italian service station and said whatever the Italians say for "fill 'er up," and were quick at arithmetic, you'd find that the gasoline cost you 72¢ a gallon.

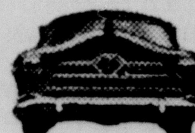

THIS IS A BENTLEY. Not to our taste in car design, but the English like it . . . and they pay 38¢ a U. S. gallon for the gasoline to run it.

IN FRANCE, where the DeLaHaye is a popular car, gasoline costs 35¢ a gallon—when you can get it. (It's $1.00 a gallon, black market.)

IN RUSSIA—well, we couldn't find the price of gasoline in Russia. We do know, though, that the average Russian must work more than two hours to earn a pack of cigarettes . . . and the average American, nine minutes.

IN OHIO, Soho X-70 is just 19¢ a gallon, plus tax . . . economical driving for any Ohio motorist. (And note, by the way, that this price, two years after the recent war, represents a substantial saving of 10¢ a gallon from the 29¢ price two years after the first World War.) Americans enjoy the cheapest, best oil products in the world . . . and, on the average, use 28 times as much as anybody else!

● Big reasons why 19¢ plus tax still buys a gallon of gasoline here in Ohio are because Soho and other companies are competing steadily and expanding rapidly—to keep pace with the growing demand which today is far above the war-time peak. In the past five years, Soho alone has put $140 million into new oil wells, pipelines and refinery equipment, including $33 million for finding and developing new underground reserves. For a medium-sized company selling mainly in a single state, this is a huge investment . . . far more money than operations will provide. But out of new borrowings, out of new investments in the business by stockholders, we're making up the difference—to assure enough oil for everybody—at prices everybody can pay.

The STANDARD OIL Co. (OHIO)

THE BETTER WE LIVE, the more oil we need . . . and to make sure we get it here in Ohio, Soho is putting new money to work in record amounts.

Recommendations Ignored, Citizen Here Says

A prominent Washington C. H. man wrote us a letter a few days ago containing statements which deserve considerable thought and attention from city officials and all other citizens of this community.

He called attention to a talk delivered before the Rotary Club a week ago by E. M. Tharp, Columbus, in which the speaker urged that all cities should have a group of citizens, separate from a Chamber of Commerce or other organizations, but sincerely interested in local municipal problems; a group which would get behind important civic questions, which would bring pressure to bear on public officials to have necessary things done, at the same time giving credit and support to officials when they do act for the welfare of the public as a whole, sometimes in the face of protests from individuals or groups who oppose progressive moves from a purely selfish point of view.

The writer of the letter mentioned that some time ago several responsible citizens had been asked and had agreed to make a study of traffic conditions here and then offer recommendations for any needed practical changes in municipal rules and regulations which would be helpful in providing relief. The citizens asked to serve on this traffic commission created by the city council, were people without any axes to grind and without interest in receiving personal benefits.

After several meetings with much thought and planning, the commission made the following recommendations:

"1--The congested area on N. Hinde Street, between W. Court and W. Market streets has received our major attention to date. After consultation with the city engineer, we found there are three possible solutions: first, widen the street the full width possible, which would mean the removal of the trees in the grass plots; second, the street could be widened about three feet on each side, without removing the trees, but the cost of a new curb and gutter would be over $2.00 per running foot; third, prohibiting parking on one side of Hinde Street. Due to the fact that the routing of Federal Route 62 and State Route 3 are over Hinde Street, your commission recommends for your consideration the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the parking on the west side of N. Hinde Street, between W. Court Street and W. Market Street, except Sundays, during the hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

"2--Due to the heavy traffic on Paint Street between N. North Street and N.

Hinde Street, we recommend the passage of an ordinance prohibiting parking on the south side of Paint Street, both day and night, between N. Hinde and N. North streets. The reason the south side was chosen is that there are very few houses on the south side of this street.

"3--We recommend that an ordinance be passed to prohibit parking on the southeast side of Columbus Avenue, between Court Street and the eastern property line of the East End School, both day and night.

"4--We recommend that an ordinance be passed to designate parallel parking on the east side of Fayette Street, from Temple Street to Broadway."

There were other recommendations but of a less pressing character than these four.

Attention now is called by this letter writer that not a single one of the recommendations made were enacted into legislation by council. He presumes that objections may have been raised by some of the people who live on the streets affected.

"Since this commission was ignored after being asked to do the work, its members became disgusted and never held another meeting," the writer stated.

He said further that the commission took the attitude that the streets do not belong to the residents thereon, but to all the citizens of Washington C. H. and that the recommendations were made with the idea of benefit to the whole community.

He commented further that the parking situation in many places in Washington C. H. is a "shame" to the city and also a danger. "In our motoring throughout the country we note that many progressive cities are doing just the things, and more, which this commission has recommended here," he added.

Well, here is a problem tossed in the laps of our city officials. We recognize that it takes courage to do needed things, sometimes, in the face of protests from individual property owners but after all the thing to remember is the question of what is right, and what will definitely benefit the greatest number concerned.

Probably we do need an independent forward-looking group of interested and progressive citizens who will give some real thought and attention toward aiding and supporting city officials. It's worth some constructive thought and attention. Maybe there are too many of us living only in the thought of what is good for us personally today without looking ahead for the Washington C. H. of tomorrow.

Berlin Crisis Born at Potsdam

By George E. Sokolsky

A historical mistake can never be corrected. It establishes a status from which one starts anew.

Thus, each war does not correct the errors that produced the war; it only establishes a new basis, sometimes worse for mankind than the one it supplants. Certainly the world was not as confused in August, 1939, to say nothing of June, 1914, as it is today.

At Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam, the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia entered upon a series of settlements which have led to failure. No principles of international justice guided Roosevelt, Churchill or Stalin. They bargained and Stalin was the best trader of the three. He made deals which gave him Europe and Asia from the Elbe to the Pacific.

He out-traded Roosevelt on every proposition.

The present Berlin crisis was born at Potsdam, where the United States was represented by Harry Truman. Instead of dealing with the issue there, the United States agreed to a plan whereby a council of foreign ministers would be organized and matters referred to it. Right there is the essential error which has produced all the troubles at Berlin--because nothing was really settled at Potsdam. I quote James F. Byrnes as my witness:

"Ben Cohen and I prepared the plan for the creation of the council of foreign ministers. When I presented it to President Truman for his consideration, we suspected what we later found to be true: the Soviet Union did not wish to act promptly on a German treaty."

"... The foreign ministers, shortly thereafter, would take up the German treaty, agree on fundamental problems such as frontiers, and local governments, and then appoint different deputies to begin drafting a German settlement. The peace treaties based on these general agreements would then be presented to the United Nations for their consideration and amendment."

Byrnes himself says of this unworkable plan:

"It was a good theory. But it was faulty in one assumption. I had assumed that at the end of hostilities an era of peace would be so deeply desired by those nations that had fought the war in unity that the inevitable differences of opinion could be resolved without serious difficulty."

So instead of the combatants, the allies, the United Nations, whatever you want to call them, dealing with Germany at a peace conference, the subject was relegated to four foreign ministers, those of the United States, Great Britain, Soviet Russia and France. At the first full meeting at Potsdam, after the organization of the council of foreign ministers, Molotov drew a red herring across the discussion by raising the issue of Greece. So that started a fight that got nowhere. Then they rowed over freedom of the press, over how to hold elections and such topics. Meanwhile, the British held an election and achieved a change of government midstream. Churchill was replaced by Attlee; Eden by Bevin. This complicated the situation no end as both Attlee and Bevin were as new as Truman and Byrnes. What a field day Stalin, Molotov and Vishinsky had with such negotiators on the other side of the table!

This is what happened concerning the German boundaries: "The president asked how the reparations issue could ever be settled 'if part of the German territory is gone before we reach agreement on what reparations should be.'"

"Stalin remarked that every thing the president said was irrelevant since 'no frontiers had been ceded at the Crimea conference except for the provisions that Poland would receive territory.'"

Practically, the eastern boundary of Germany was already made a closed issue unilaterally by Russia before the meeting at Potsdam. Then came the question of German reparations. Byrnes says of it:

"There was, first of all, the figure of twenty billion dollars, with one-half, or ten billion dollars, to go to the Soviet Union. Mr. Maisky had advanced this figure at Yalta and President Roosevelt had accepted it as a 'basis for discussion' in the reparations commission... at Potsdam, both Generalissimo Stalin and Mr. Molotov kept pressing for the establishment of a definite figure."

So that got nowhere. Now three years later, secret diplomacy has produced failure after failure, lie after lie. And we face the peril of war.

Ulcerative Colitis And Its Treatment

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ULCERATIVE colitis is one of those diseases for which we have many treatments but few cures. Right now, however, a most hopeful form of treatment is being pioneered and if final results live up to first promises it may bring great benefits to thousands who suffer from this condition.

Loss of Weight

Ordinarily, ulcerative colitis is marked by diarrhea, loss of weight and strength, and the presence of both blood and mucus in the bowel movements. A definite diagnosis, however, must be made through the use of an instrument called the proctoscope which can be passed into the bowel to allow the physician to see the characteristic changes the disease causes in the walls of the bowel.

The new treatment for this disease uses a vaccine made from staphylococcus germs taken from the patient's bowel. It is thought that these germs may be responsible for the condition because they are usually found in the ulcers which form along the bowel walls and in the bowel movements of patients with this condition. Furthermore, it has been found that many of these patients also have infections of the nose or throat due to staphylococcus germs. The vaccine was given twice a week in gradually-increasing dosage, depending upon the patient's reaction to it.

X-Ray Examination

Examination with X-ray and with the proctoscope, following a period of the use of the vaccine, showed apparent recovery or satisfactory improvement. After two weeks' treatment, patients reported they were eating better, that there was no diarrhea, and less blood in the bowel movement. At the end of a few months of such improvement, it was noted that the bowel itself was gradually returned to normal.

It may be that all patients will not respond to this treatment. It would appear that whether or not they are benefited depends on the role played by the staphylococcus germs producing the disorder. At any rate, if the patient with ulcerative colitis has nose and throat infections due to staphylococcus germs, and these germs can be shown to be present in the intestinal tract, the treatment with the vaccine might well be tried.

Some patients with this disorder may be benefited by the use of large doses of penicillin. Others have noted improvement with other types of vaccine, such as those made from streptococcus germs.

Several patients were treated by Dr. W. A. Hazlett, of Pennsylvania, using staphylococcus vaccines and, in all cases, there was thorough recovery or satisfactory improvement.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. D.: What is meant by a "burst" condition?

Answer: This term refers to buritis. Buritis is inflammation in the sac containing fluid which is located over one of the joints. Inflammation may occur as a result of an injury or infection, or may be caused by overuse of the part.

The use of heat, such as infra-red lamp or diathermy, may be helpful. In some cases an operation is necessary, depending on whether or not calcium or lime deposits have occurred in the bursa.

Little Bird Gets Berry Today

By Hal Boyle

CARVER, Mass.--(AP)--This is the wedding day of the little white hen and the little red cranberry.

It is a marriage of convenience which the stern and rockbound business world here hopes will echo down the corridors of time as profitably as did the merry courtship of Priscilla and John Alden.

And before you start asking me how in Massachusetts a hen can say "I do" to a cranberry--and I'm not bogging the question--let me begin by saying there are several similarities between those two romances, separated by more than 300 years.

The scene of both is a fair vale in the hill swamps not far from the gray rock of Plymouth, where the founding fathers steeped ashore in 1620 and were helped pronto by Squanto, the first of New England's long line of distinguished educators.

And in both cases the love tales arise from a strange triangle.

Every schoolchild remembers that the triangle in the 17th century's Puritan heart epic consisted of Captain Myles Standish, his friend, John Alden, and saucy Priscilla Mullins. Standish was standoffish about telling Priscilla she was the prettiest thing he'd seen since he became a widower.

So he sent honest John to ask her if she wouldn't like to wed a soldier tried and true. But Priscilla proved that all girls don't swoon at a uniform. She decided she wanted a man who mowed down the front lawn instead of traipsing around the back yard of America mowing down Indians. She melted Alden with a coy, "Oh, Johnny, oh, Johnny, speak for thyself." And she and John were married and had eleven fine, big children--all presumably barrel-chested since Alden was a cooper. In those times posterity was prosperity.

A different kind of prosperity is hoped for the wedding today of the little white hen and the little red cranberry. The marriage is just a symbol of a desire by farmers here, where half the nation's cranberries are grown, to wake up the public to the fact that cranberries taste just as good with chicken as they do with turkey.

So they rewrote the complications behind the classic John-Myles-Priscilla marital melange to cover the new problem. They changed an angle in the old familiar Puritan triangle. The new triangle is made up of a pretty white hen, a poor but honest cranberry, and the cranberry's father--a stuffy old turkey. The Turkey (Myles Standish?)

for years has dominated the ruddy-cheeked boy (John Alden?). But the cranberry wants to get out from under his father's wing. He believes he could get ahead faster if he could win a place for life at the side of the little white hen (Priscilla Mullins?).

Well, true love wins out again. The red cranberry and the little white hen are to be united in a mock wedding ceremony this afternoon featuring a cranberry festival. And the farmers hope everybody will get the idea that chicken and cranberries do go together.

Acting as minister in this modern morality drama will be Robert F. Bradford, now running for his second term as state governor. He is a lineal descendant of William Bradford, who served 32 years as governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony but left no record of his views on the cranberry's matrimonial life--or whether John Alden married the right chicken.

What Hollywood couldn't do with that hen-cranberry wedding scene as the climax of a story of young love moving forward to a bright future from the clouds of the past! Can't you see it? As John Alden and the little Red Cranberry march shoulder to shoulder into the sunset with Priscilla and the Blushing White Hen, a grim figure in a high-peaked Pilgrim hat, calls an immortal message: "Wake up, America! Eat more cranberries!"

Rainfall Here In September Above Normal

Average Temperature Also Somewhat Above Average

A summary of the weather for September, just completed by U.S. Observer Coyt A. Stookey, discloses that the month had nearly one inch of rainfall above normal for September, and that the temperature was somewhat above normal.

The report shows 3.40 inches of rainfall compared with a normal of 2.43 inches.

The mean or average temperature was 67.3 degrees and normal 66.1 degrees.

As a matter of fact there were six days in the month with a temperature of 90 or above, with peak of 93 degrees on September 17.

The lowest temperature was 43 degrees on Sept. 23.

An abnormally large number of days were partly cloudy or cloudy. In fact only one clear day was noted by Observer Stookey, and 22 were classified as partly cloudy and seven as cloudy.

Of the rainfall, 1.62 fell during a single day, with most of it recorded within a few hours.

Winds from the southwest, northwest, north and northeast with two days when southerly breezes were recorded.

The mean maximum temperature was 80.6 degrees and the mean minimum was 54 degrees.

Homecoming Plans

(Continued from Page One) years, has been selected to take the names of the old grads who expect to turn out for the occasion. Plans call for the former Lions to notify Willis of their Friday night intentions. This list is to be used as a standard for making seating arrangements. It was made plain, however, that a place would be found for any of the late announced arrivals.

Head Coach Fred Pierson and Backfield Coach Steve Lewis endorsed the plan for a welcome for the former Lions. Supt. A. B. Murray and Prin. Stephen Brown are helping work out the details which will be taken up for final discussion at this week's athletic board meeting.

None would make any prediction on the number of former Lions who would be in the gauntlet line for the homecoming. But, they are starting with 75 for the seating plans. Quick letters and telephone calls are being sent to many former Lions in other cities. Some of these are expected to come home even if they don't have the time to reply.

Big Crowd Expected

One of the biggest crowds of the season is expected for several reasons. First of all, this is to be the homecoming game and many former students of WHS already have told friends they are planning to come back. Then, too, there will be the added color of the queen's coronation ceremonies. Added to these, two old rivals, Greenfield's Tigers and the WHS Lions will meet on the football field; the Lions have won three games in a row—and won them impressively—and the WHS marching band will be joined by the McClain band from Greenfield for the half-time show.

Mrs. Wallace Prefers Farm Life To Social Whirl of Washington

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

SOUTH SALEM, N. Y.—Farvue Farm, high on a hilltop overlooking rolling Westchester county farm and wood lands in gaudy fall dress, is a peaceful spot, simple, well-ordered and charming.

It is the year-round home of Henry Agard Wallace, presidential candidate on the Progressive ticket now in the midst of a tumultuous campaign. The quiet of the big white house, broken only by the bickering of chickens on a nearby hill, was a sharp contrast, a sanctuary.

"It must be like this," Mrs. Wallace commented. "I think that a man leading this kind of life needs some spot where he can be free of the pressures he meets every day."

Mrs. Wallace thinks of Farvue Farm as her first and most important job: keeping it peaceful, quiet and smooth-running so her busy husband can relax and take it easy.

"That is," she qualified, "when he's home. He's not home very much these days. When he is, it's more important than ever to have it right for him."

Dark-eyed Ilo Browne Wallace, wife of the former vice president, ranks easily among the most attractive of the wives of the various candidates. Youthfully middle-aged, poised and gracious, she carefully avoids politics and public speeches. But despite a laughing statement that "I make a dreadful politician," her devotion and loyalty to her husband and all he stands for is perfectly evident even to those who meet her briefly and casually.

Despite 13 years in Washington as the wife of a cabinet officer and vice president—a position which carries traditional duties almost as mandatory as those outlined by law for the vice president—Mrs. Wallace always has been happiest in her role of homemaker and hostess. She is reserved, with a natural dignity and a vestige of a youthful shyness and she just plain doesn't like the limelight.

Next May 20 she and her husband will celebrate their 35th wedding anniversary. Through the years, Mrs. Wallace has made an easy transition from the young suburbanite living outside Des Moines to a cultured, mature woman living by choice in a handsome spacious country place some 50 miles outside New York City.

"It is very different from Washington," she commented. "But I can say now I would rather be here. A year ago, the answer might have been different."

Like her husband, she is a native of Iowa, born in St. Charles. The family later moved to Indiana, where Mrs. Wallace grew up and where her father, James Lytle Browne, was in the insurance business.

"I really don't remember the very first time I met my husband," she said. "I suppose I should, but honestly I don't. One of his sisters—Annabelle—was a member of the same sorority at Drake University in Des Moines. I probably met him first when I was visiting her at the Wallace house."

They were married in 1914, when Wallace was a young reporter on the family-owned weekly newspaper. He was also working on his corn experiments during their early married life—the experiments that developed his famous hybrid corn—and they lived on a 400-acre model farm outside Des Moines.

She belonged to the local Parent-Teacher Association, like any other young mother of three youngsters. She was interested in her garden and flowers. She played a little golf.

"I've never joined many organizations," she said. "It never has seemed that I've had time to. And when we were in Washington there were so many things I had to do—particularly until the war came—it filled my days."

Wallace was appointed to President Roosevelt's first cabinet in 1933, as secretary of agriculture. The family moved into a comfortable apartment in the Wardman Park Hotel. Henry Browne Wallace, their eldest son, now 33, stayed behind in Des Moines to finish school. Robert Browne Wallace, born in 1918, and their daughter, Jean Browne, born two years later, continued their schooling, first in Washington and then in private schools and colleges elsewhere.

"The social life was terrific in the early days," Mrs. Wallace said, "and it kept you busy almost all the time. There were lots of teas—tremendous teas—parties, luncheons, dinners, receptions. And diplomatic affairs, a great number of diplomatic affairs."

Mrs. Wallace, following the custom, presided at her weekly "at-homes."

"All this stopped when war came and I understand it hasn't been resumed to any great extent," she added.

Those who have known Mrs. Wallace over the years maintain she's the perfect example of a woman who has grown more measured with the passage of time. When she first arrived on the Washington scene she was on the plump side, pulled her fine hair severely back and wore unbending eye-glasses. She dressed as if clothes meant little to her.

Today she has a pleasantly filled figure, wears her wavy hair softly about her face and, apparently, no longer needs spectacles. She dresses beautifully and in perfect taste. One year when her husband was vice president, she was named by New York's Fashion Academy as the "best dressed woman in public life."

In those days she appeared very frequently with her husband on banquet platforms and at other functions. Since his retirement as a public official she has retired, apparently gratefully, into the background again. She plans to accompany her husband on some of his campaign trips and she has attended several "Women for Wallace" luncheons in various parts of the country.

All of the children have homes of their own now. Henry lives in Des Moines and is a chicken-raiser, conducting some cross-breeding experiments as does his father, Robert, living in Bryn Mawr, is handling the commercial end of the chicken business. Daughter Jean, who was married a little over a year ago to a naval officer, lives in Washington.

But the Farvue farmhouse is no deserted place. On weekends its five bedrooms are usually filled. The Wallaces entertain many of their friends from New York,

American League Race Ends in Tie--Red Sox And Indians in Playoff

By JACK HAND
BOSTON, Oct. 4.—(P)—All odds favor the Red Sox to make it an all-Boston world series today by knocking over Cleveland in the first tie playoff game in the history of the American League.

Joe McCarthy's determined gang comes into this sudden death one-game final at Fenway Park off a closing surge that gave them one more chance when all hope appeared lost.

Going into the final day of the regular season, they were one down with one to go. All the Indians needed was a closing victory to sew up its first series since 1920. In a few brief hours, Hal Newhouse's brilliant pitching and the Sox' 10-5 crushing of the New York Yankees reduced the tribe from odds on favorites to long short under-dogs.

Now they come into Fenway, where the Sox make a living playing Yankee Doodle on the left field wall. Although their season record is 11-11 with Cleveland, the Boston sluggers lowered the boom on the Indians in five of their last six starts in the Hub park.

Both McCarthy and Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland club are being cagey about their

Meads Win SCO Crown

Chillicothe's Meads are the 1948 champions of the SCO Baseball League.

The Meads won the "rub" game of the playoff series from Ashville's Reds Sunday, 2 to 1, before a crowd of 1,764, the largest of the season.

The Reds, last year's champions, were handcuffed by Clarence Brown, ace righthander of the Meads who used his knuckle ball to good advantage. The Reds got 8 singles, but they were well scattered.

Charles (Kink) Graves held the Meads to three hits, but they bunched them enough to get better results.

Proceeds of the game are to be used for a league banquet and to further interest in the league and the sports in these parts.

The Washington C. H. Eagles, who had their ups and downs during the season, finished in the midsection of the standing after a hot race with Greenfield's Athletics.

Jerry The First Misses Race Entry

Jerry the First, the Fayette County bred pacer that has been setting the Grand Circuit and Chicago race tracks afire this summer as a consistent winner, will not race at Lexington Tuesday.

Eddie Cobb, his owner-trainer-driver, said Monday he arrived at the track 15 minutes too late to get in his entry.

He did not indicate whether he would enter Jerry the First in any races later in the week—or whether there were any other races to which the first colt of Jerry M is eligible.

Haddix to Pitch In All-Star Game

The American Legion post at Wilmington today holds the championship of the new 10-team Southwestern Ohio Baseball League.

The Legionnaires beat out the Good Hope team, 3 to 2, in a pitchers' battle Sunday at Greenfield.

So, with the playoff completed and the championship settled, the upcoming All-Star game next Sunday, also to be played at Greenfield, is taking the spotlight.

Tommy Smalley, headman of the Good Hope team is to be the manager of the All-Stars in the season's climax for the loop against the champions.

Each of the other nine teams around the circuit are to send two players to the All-Star squad.

There will be—barring any unforeseen complications—an extra-special added attraction. Harvey Haddix, who started his rise in professional baseball with Jeffersonville of the SCO League, is to pitch several innings against the champions for the All-Stars. Haddix has been the ace of the Columbus Red Birds pitching staff this year.

Smalley said he had selected Bob Dawes, a pitcher and first baseman, to represent the Good Hope team on the All-Star squad.

In Sunday's game that decided the league championship, Kenny Dawes Good Hope's speedballer, and Bill Lee of the Wilmington team, went at it hammer and tongs for nine tough innings. Dawes held the Legionnaires to three hits with good support (only two miscues) from his mates afield.

The Good Hope batters got but two safeties off Lee.

Good Hope's record for the season is 18 wins against 4 defeats. Two of the victories were against non-league clubs.

Good Hope and Wilmington wound up the regular season in a deadlock. In the playoff Wilmington won the opener, Good Hope took the second, played at Wilson field here, and then at Greenfield Sunday, the Legionnaires put on the clincher.

Two Teams Tie Again In Best-Ball Tourney

The second best-ball tournament by seven four-man teams wound up in a two-team deadlock for the second time after an all afternoon battle over the Country Club course Sunday afternoon.

The teams captained by Dr. Robert Hagerty and Fred Pierson each finished with scores of 69.

On Dr. Hagerty's team were his father, Stan Hagerty, Bill Himmelsbach and Howard (Dink) Dellinger. On Pierson's team were Bill Junk, O. D. Farquhar and Gene Stanforth.

Dr. Hagerty had the low individual score of the tourney, a neat 75.

Bill McLean's team of Charles Dunton, Jack Reno and Max Lawrence was third with a 70.

Other teams were Ronnie Cornwell, Red Reno, Darrell Thornton and Wayne Shobe 72; Chuck Cummings, Keneth Harley, Duke Bierly and Jim Grimstead 72; Forrest Ellis, Glen Roseboom, Bud Schule and Roy Rillor 75; and Loren Howe, H. R. Gandert, Dick Korn and Dick Wood 76.

Gene Stanforth provided the sensation of the week by registering a hole-in-one on No. 8. Using a No. 7 iron, he lofted the ball to the green about 150 yards away. It took one bounce and plopped right into the cup. Playing with him at the time were Farquhar, Howe and Korn.

Incidentally, the teams captained by Dr. Hagerty and McLean were the ones tied at the end of the first best-ball tourney here two weeks ago.

In the class B best-ball tourney, held at the same time, the team of Mel Shaw, Austin Wise, W. E. Kennedy and Dr. Carter carded a 78 to beat out Eugene McLean, John Knorr, Bob Helfrich and John O'Conner with a best ball score of 87.

Pierson's team members each received a $12.50 winter shirt by virtue of their coin flip to break the tie. Dr. Hagerty's team members each received two golf balls as the second prize.

Wises class B team members also received two golf balls. All other tourney players get one golf ball.

Reds Escape NL Cellar

CINCINNATI, Oct. 4.—(P)—The 1948 Cincinnati Reds escaped the National League cellar by just two percentage points and much of the credit can go to Johnny Vander Meer, their veteran southpaw hurler.

Vandy softened the blow of the Reds' worst year since 1945 when he turned in a nifty two-hitter yesterday to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 1-0, in the season's finale. The Reds' winningest pitcher

Tickets Sold By Cleveland For Series

BY FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4.—(P)—Confident Clevelanders picked up their world series tickets today.

Their in-and-out Indians were battling Boston in the American with a 17-14 record, Vander Meer was their only stopper as they bounced in and out of last place during the closing weeks of the campaign.

Rookie Steve Filipowicz, up from the Reds' Sunbury, Pa., farm, shared the limelight with Vandy as he connected for a game-winning single in the ninth inning.

Bobby Adams had walked and moved up on Hank Sauer's single before Filipowicz connected for the one-baser.

Hutchison Farm Is Inspected by Clevelanders

Only One Visited in Fayette County in State Contest

E. J. Cunningham and Fred Smith, manager and operator of the Hutchison Farm near Eber have made an exceptionally good grain and livestock record.

Planned soil and water conservation programs and a breeding plan designed for production are responsible, according to Cunningham.

This was recognized by six visitors from the Cleveland Farmers Club when they visited the farm Sunday afternoon.

The Cleveland Farmers Club is a group associated with the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce and has conducted an awards program among Ohio farmers for more than six years. Thirty-five farms in Ohio were picked out for complete inspection of this year and the Hutchison Farm was the only one selected in Fayette County. Farms winning awards will be announced later.

The Hutchison farm was one of the first in Fayette County on which a complete soil and water conservation program was developed by R. H. Blosser, local farm planner of the U. S. Soil conservation service. Cunningham actually started a conservation program in 1945, two years before a detailed plan of conservation was developed for the entire farm.

The conservation practices to be seen on the Hutchison Farm today include land used according to its capability; proper field arrangement; an approved rotation; grass waterways; improved meadows and permanent pasture. The drainage ditch has been cleaned this summer.

The Cleveland Farmers Club members saw a dairy herd that has increased production per cow by 50% during the last two years. A herd of pure bred market hogs produces 170 pound hogs on an average of six bushels of grain per head.

Improved permanent pasture was given credit for the increased milk production. High quality hay and grass silage was used and a minimum amount of grain was fed in the ration.

Hog production efficiency was attributed to the use of good alfalfa pasture, sanitation, and the selection of the breeding stock on production records.

One of the inspectors from Cleveland said that the permanent pasture resembled a golf course in color and density and then asked how it had been improved. It had received two tons per acre of limestone and 500 pounds per acre of 0-12-12 fertilizer during the last three years. It had been clipped several times during the summer to promote uniform growth and maximum protein production. Last May this pasture was included in the pasture tour taken by the Agriculture Extension Service in Fayette County.

Since 1945, the Hutchison Farm has rotated corn, small grain and two years of legume grass meadow or pasture. The meadows are seeded to a mixture of Alfalfa, red clover, ladino clover and either timothy or brome grass. Liberal applications of fertilizer are used, the corn getting about 400 pounds per acre and the small grain about 350 per acre.

Artificial breeding has been used in the dairy herd for the last two years. Cunningham helped organize the Fayette County Dairy Association which provides artificial service to farmers who request it.

On departure the Cleveland men stated they hoped to visit another farm in Fayette County next year which had a soil and water conservation program coordinated with a good livestock program such as the Hutchison Farm.

Stolen Mower Is Recovered

Sheriff Orland Hays went to Idaho, in Sunfish Valley, Pike County, Sunday, and brought back a power lawnmower which was identified as the property of the trustees of Greene Township, and which was stolen from the Buena Vista Cemetery the night of June 5.

Sheriff Hays followed a clue received recently.

So far no arrests have been made. Meanwhile further inquiry is being made into the theft.

When found the mower was hidden under a house, Sheriff Hays said.

Prevention of Fires Stressed By Fire Chief

Losses in City and Nation For Past Year Cited

October 3 to 9 has been proclaimed as National Fire Prevention Week by the President of the United States, and in his proclamation he called upon every man, woman and child to do their part in helping reduce the loss of life and property by fire, not only during the week as designated as fire prevention week but every week throughout the year, and also the years to come.

The governor of the great state of Ohio also calls upon the people of Ohio to do everything in their power to reduce the needless loss of life and property due to fire.

Last year the fire loss in the state of Ohio hit an alltime high of $22,000,000.00 and it is estimated that due to greater steps taken this year in the state to further reduce the fire loss that some $4,000,000.00 less in property loss may result.

During the year of 1947 in the state of Ohio 466 people lost their lives by fire, and it is hoped that this figure can be greatly reduced during this year.

In Washington C. H. last year our loss by fire was reduced some $4,800.00 from the previous year, and it is hoped that a better record can be made for the year 1948. During the year of 1947 the fire department answered a total of 153 alarms of fire, with a loss of $16,288.68 compared with 151 alarms during the year 1946, with a total loss of $21,128.68.

The loss of life by fire here has fortunately been held to the minimum, and officials hope to reduce the number of people burned by asking that all citizens be more careful of that destructive enemy, fire.

This year the Fire Prevention Poster carries the slogan: "STOP FIRE," and has a picture of Fire, the "fifth horseman" with his flaming torch, sowing death and destruction, has joined the four horsemen of classic fame—war, famine, pestilence, and death.

Throughout America, fire is a constant menace—everywhere, day and night. Its toll is close to 11,500 lives a year—men, women and children burned to death and killed by its deadly gases. According to national figures another 50,000 persons suffer painful burns and many were left crippled for life. In addition to all of this, during the year of 1947 fire destroyed over $700,000,000.00 in homes, factories, stores, schools, churches, warehouses, farms and forests.

Death Summons Mrs. J. Hughey

Well Known Resident Of City Dies

Mrs. Mada Hughey, 85, widow of Dr. James W. Hughey, who died in 1912, passed away at her home at 604 Columbus Avenue Sunday at 10:15 A. M., following a long illness. Her condition had been serious since Feb. 28.

Mrs. Hughey was a member of one of the county's oldest families, and she had always been active in church work as her health permitted.

She was a member of the American Legion Auxiliary, and a gold star mother.

Mrs. Hughey was the mother of Paul H. Hughey for whom Paul H. Hughey Post of the American Legion was named. Her son was killed in aerial fight over the battlefields of France during the first World War.

Members of the post were called on by Commander Robert Minshall to meet at Legion Hall at 1 P. M. Tuesday to attend the funeral services for the post's mother in a body.

She had been a member of the Eastern Star for more than 50 years.

Mrs. Hughey, by reason of her friendly spirit and neighborly disposition, leaves an unusually large number of friends.

She was born in Good Hope, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Harper. Following her marriage to Dr. Hughey she resided in Good Hope; a short time in Chillicothe and the remainder of her life in this city.

Surviving is one son, Brooks, of Dayton; a sister, Mrs. Sherman Murray; five grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at Grace Methodist Church, of which she had long been a member, Tuesday at 1:30 P. M., with Rev. Allan W. Caley conducting the services. Interment will be made in the family lot in the Washington C. H. Cemetery under direction of the Gerstner Funeral Home. Friends may call at the home of
